

Needs Your Help!

FREE easy to understand legal information for Albertans

Vulnerable populations don't only deal with poverty issues but often face a variety of legal problems as well. We at CPLEA believe that it is very important to equip the frontline service providers working with these vulnerable populations with the right set of skills.

We have developed a four module workshop series for frontline service providers and are in need of a few Alberta lawyers who can volunteer some of their time to help us make this training program a success.

First

We need lawyers who can commit 90 to 120 minutes of their time to review our workshop materials and the Facilitator's Guides.

Second

Once you do that we will ask you to fill out a short survey online to give us feedback about the workshop materials so that we can revise them before we roll out the training program. We won't be asking you to comment on the legal content of the materials, just on whether you think the materials provide enough support for the volunteer lawyers who will be presenting the workshops.

Third

After the workshop materials are finalized we are going to need volunteer lawyers in Calgary to test deliver these 60 minute and 90 minute workshops to frontline service providers in Calgary until the end of November 2019.

The four modules in our workshop series are titled:

- The Canadian Legal System and Helping Clients with Legal Issues
- Family Law in Alberta
- Criminal Law in Alberta
- Renting in Alberta

If you are an Alberta lawyer and are able to help us as a volunteer reviewer or a volunteer workshop facilitator, please send an email to volunteers@cplea.ca Please specify in the email whether you would like to be a reviewer or a workshop facilitator.

If you would like to help us facilitate a workshop, we ask that you also specify the workshop topic you would be most comfortable teaching and that you give us a very brief outline of your related experience.

We thank you for your time in advance and look forward to working with you!
